PARKER'S

Parent-Teacher Assn. Entertains.

The Parent-Teacher Association formally assumed its share of the scholastic year with a reception to the teachers on the opening Monday. Dr. and Mrs. H. J. Meyer had hospitably offered their large house and lawn for the occasion and strings of Japanese lanterns lit up the lawn and porches, while flowers and swinging boxes of fern and comfortable benches made a delightful retreat for the throng of members who availed themselves of the hospitality. The teachers were formerly presented to the guests by Messrs. Howell and Newton and Mrs. Chancey, members of the reception committee, and then an hour of chatting passed away while the Edison revels in the latest "Jazz." Then the guests were summoned indoors to enjoy the following program which was arranged by Miss Nell Wilson:

1. Piano Solo—Sonata.....Beethoven
Nettie Mae Newton.
2. Vocal Solo—Little Rainbow.....
Vincent Plankett
Tripoli—Ivy Weill
Hilda Muennink.
3. Piano Solo—Hungarian Rhapsody.....Lizt
Lillian Brucks
4. Vocal Solo—One fleeting Hour
Karl Fuhrmann
Sweet and Low—Stanley Royce
Mrs. O. A. Fly
5. Violin Solo—Concerto.....
J. B. Accolaj
Souvenir—Drdla
Irene Saathoff
6. Vocal Solo—Sunshine of your smile.....Caroline
Mrs. Horace Bradley
7. Reading—A Negro Wedding.....Daddy
Miss Ethel Crider
8. Vocal Solo—
Miss Crider
9. Piano Solo—
Miss Crider

Miss Ethel Crider, who is to assume the triple role of Director of Piano, Voice and Dramatic Art studies, rendered selections in each of these branches which were received with enthusiastic applause.

Mrs. Heyen as chairman of the refreshments summoned all outdoors again where a refreshing course of sandwiches and punch was served. Assisting Mrs. Noonan at the punch bowls were Mesdames Wilson, Starnes, Meyer, Heyen and Chancey.

A business meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association was held Monday afternoon, voting to have a picture show in the near future, and where the outstanding feature was Prof. Howell flying signals of distress over not getting his teachers settled as to rooms and boards as quickly as he had expected—a condition we hope has been alleviated.

Terence MacSwiny, the hunger-striking Lord Mayor of Cork, was alive and retained unimpaired mental faculties early Monday evening as he completed his 32nd day without food. He was so weak, however, that his wife, who was at his side practically all day, did not speak to him. She feared the exertion he would be put to in listening or an attempt of his to talk to her might prove fatal. The slowly dying man gained some rest during the night and early in the morning was able to utter a few words. He complained of a growing feeling of numbness. FEDERAL RESERVE BANK SAYS 753,960 BOUGHT FOURTH LIBERTY BONDS

Dallas, Texas.—When the Fourth Liberty Loan Drive was on in the Eleventh Federal Reserve District, 753,960 persons bought bonds, according to Dinsmore W. Hume, Savings Director of Dallas. The entire amount, value, of 2 1/4% bonds then bought was $145,988,525. Interest on these bonds is due semi-annually, the next payment coming October 15, 1920. At that time the interest to be paid will be $3,102,231.15. A like sum will be payable on March 15, 1921. Regret has been expressed in banking circles that many bond owners have never presented their interest coupons for payment, as is contemplated by the government.

HOW SHIPS GET LATE MAIL

Airplanes Used to Overtake Liners and Drop Bags While the Vessel is Traveling.

Experiments have proved it entirely practicable to deliver belated transatlantic mail to steamers at sea by airplanes.

The ship may have taken its departure several hours previously, yet the flying machine, with a speed of 100 miles or more an hour, can easily catch up with it and put the mail aboard.

A plane of the "flying boat" type is used for the purpose, and the waterproof mail bag is held in a chute on the side of the hull. The aviator flies over the ship and the rigging entangles a long line dropped from the plane that has grapple tails on its end. This line is attached to the mail bag, which, when the grapple tails catch, is jerked out of its chute, falling into the sea.

It is then an easy matter to haul the mail bag aboard, while the steamer continues its uninterrupted voyage.

DIDN'T WAIT TO BE ASKED

Elsie's Little Scheme to Test Sweetheart's Fidelity Could Hardly Be Called a Success.

Elsie, about to be married, decided at the last moment to test her sweetheart; so, going to her friend, Maude, the prettiest girl she knew, she said to her, although she knew it was a great risk:

"I'll arrange for Fred to take you out tonight—a walk on the beach in the moonlight, supper, and all that sort of thing—and I want you, in order to put his fidelity to the proof, to ask him for a kiss."

Maude laughed, blushed, and assented. The plot was carried out. The next day Elsie visited her friend, and said, anxiously:

"Well, Maude, did you ask him?"

"No, Elsie, dear."

"No! Why not?"

"I didn't get a chance; he asked me first."

BREAK IN TRAIN'S SCHEDULE

Fair Driver of Auto Had a Hunch, and the Sequel Proved She Was Correct.

Let me recommend a ride in a new car with a woman driver as the best prescription for a thrill that will last a lifetime, writes a correspondent. Mine came when, after reluctantly accepting an invitation to ride from a friend who had just received her new machine, we mounted the incline to a grade crossing in a suburb and started across the tracks. In the exact middle the engine stopped and nothing we could do had the slightest effect on it. While working we were approached by an excited flagman.

"A limited is due here in two minutes," he said, "and it never has stopped at this station."

"It will today," calmly replied my friend. And it did, but not before it had been flagged and the train crew helped boost up from the rails.

Stale Goods.
"This sword is very old," said the curio dealer. "In fact, it is over a hundred years old."

"Indeed!" said the customer.

"Aye. It came from the battle of Waterloo—that was in the year 1815, sir—and there's an anecdote goes with it."

The customer listened patiently while the old man recounted the story. Then, at the conclusion, he returned the sword to its owner.

"Thank you! That was very interesting, and I quite enjoyed it," he replied kindly. "But, unfortunately, I bought that same anecdote once before with an old musket!"

Well, Considering the Provocation!
We always have heard that a limited amount of profanity is pardonable when one barks a shin on a rocking chair in the dark. When one gets up in the dark, however, and with a warm bare foot treads upon a cold rubber doll with a whistle in it, we think the limit should be extended.—Kansas City Star.

Austin, Texas, Sept. 14.—All men and women of Texas, who are otherwise qualified to vote, may participate in the general election to be held November 2nd, without payment of poll tax, according to an opinion from the Texas attorney general, made public late Monday by the governor, who declined to comment on it. Male inhabitants are still liable for the payment of a poll tax, the opinion said, but failure to pay the same will not disqualify a man from voting who is otherwise a qualified voter. The opinion said that the suffrage amendment is now recognized by the federal government as part of the constitution of the United States and that all states are prohibited from exercising discrimination against citizens who desire to vote and who are otherwise qualified to vote by reason of, or on account of sex.

EVER BILIOUS?

Charleston, Miss.—Mrs. R. V. Heins, of this place, says: "I have never had to use very much medicine, because if I felt headache, dizziness, or colds, bad taste in the mouth, which comes from torpid liver, I would take a dose or more of Black-Draught, and it would straighten me out and make me feel as good as new. We have used in our family for years

R. Scates and Geo. I. Wilson, and for further description of said 232 acres of land reference is here made to a deed from Geo. I. Wilson to J. R. Scates, dated March 24th 1887, recorded in the Deed Records of Medina County, Texas, in Book A, No. 20, on page 340; 320 acres of land, known as survey No. 1524, originally granted to the heirs of Aubin F. Raquet, deceased; 1476 acres of land, known as survey No. 761, originally granted to Wenceslao Pacheco; 1476 acres of land, known as survey No. 760, originally granted to Guadalupe de los Santos; 600 acres of land, out of survey No. 583, in the name of Nancy B. I. Wilson to J. R. Scates, dated March 24th 1887, recorded in the Deed Records of Medina County, Texas, in Book A, No. 20, on page 340; 101 9-10 acres of land, known as Survey No. 583, originally granted to Joseph Barnhart; 1116 acres of land, out of Survey No. 589, in the name of Julian Cervantes; said 1116 acres being and lying South of an agreed division line between J. That on the day and year aforesaid January 1st 1920, defendants unlawfully entered upon said premises and ejected plaintiff therefrom, and unlawfully withheld from him the possession thereof.

Plaintiff further represents and alleges that all the above described lands were conveyed by J. W. Moore, and Ed. C. Minor, by Warranty deeds, as follows:—from J. W. Moore, by a Warranty deed, dated June 20th 1890; that said deed was duly filed for record in the Deed Records of Medina County, Texas, the County wherein said lands were situated, on the 16th day of July, A. D. 1890, and that such deed was duly recorded in said Deed Records in Book A, No. 22, on page 503, to which deed and its record reference is here made for further description; That plaintiff immediately thereafter entered upon said lands and took exclusive possession thereof, and since said time has had peaceable and adverse possession thereof, cultivating, using or enjoying the same and paying all taxes thereon, claiming under and by virtue of the aforesaid deeds, for a period of more than five years prior to the institution of this suit and prior to the 1st day of January, A. [L. S.] AUGUST KEMPF,
 Clerk District Court Medina County, Texas.

THE STATE OF TEXAS.

To the Sheriff or any Constable of Medina County, Greeting:

You Are Hereby Commanded to cause to be published once each week for a period of ten days before the return day hereof, in a newspaper of general circulation, which has been continuously and regularly published for a period of not less than one year in said Medina County, a copy of the following notice:

THE STATE OF TEXAS

D. 1920, at the Court House thereof, in Hondo, Texas, at which time all persons interested in said Estate may appear and contest said application, should they desire to do so.

Herein Fail Not, but have you before said Court on the said first day of the next term thereof this Writ, with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

 [L. S.] S. A. JUNGMAN, Clerk
 County Court Medina County, Texas.

Got Her Revenge, All Right.
 "Gentlemen of the jury," the eminent counsel wound up his eloquent oration, "I leave the rest to you. You are Americans; you come of a valorous race. As men, you would scorn to insult a woman—or illtreat one—to say aught which is unbecoming or unmannerly to one of the gentler sex."

He paused, with an angry glance at the back of the court, where there was a sudden disturbance. Then he shrank back as a stern-looking woman faced him coldly.

"And only this morning," she said loudly, "that man called me a meddling old cat!"

She was his mother-in-law.—Rehoboth Sunday Herald.

A Truthful Sign.
 A friend of mine bought a new car, and on our first ride we came to a sign which read, "Road Closed."

"Don't believe in signs," he remarked, and we drove on.

The next thing I remember is picking myself up from the creek where the bridge was out. My confident friend came to at last and rubbed his head.

"I'm a firm believer in signs from now on," he remarked, and we hired a farmer to pull the car home.—Chicago Tribune.

Here's Something Worth Knowing.
 Listen to this, fishermen. There's a man residing in New York state who has discovered a reliable way to learn when the fish are biting, without going to a stream and trying his luck. Here is the formula: Catch and keep alive a catfish. When you wish to go fishing, dig some worms and throw them to the catfish. If he eats them, the fish will bite; but if he don't, you might as well stay at home.—Exchange.

Circumstances Alter Cases.
 The Doctor—That was a very bad sprain. You will need absolute rest. You will not be able to dance for three months.

The Premier Danseuse—That's tough. It cancels a three hundred a week contract and me without a cent saved up.

The Doctor—Not a cent? That's too bad. But don't worry. I think I can fix you so you can go on tomorrow night's show.

Uvalde Bank Robber Confesses.

Pierre Guyon, the bank robber of the First National Bank of Uvalde, who was arrested at dawn Friday of last week, confessed at night on the day of his arrest of being guilty of the robbery on Wednesday, September 8th. Guyon had been a resident of Uvalde for several years, he is 35 years old, has a family and was engaged in selling automobiles. He confessed after strongly maintaining his innocence for 18 hours. He then explained to the officers, says the report, that he had grown desperate, that he was flat broke, unable to take care of his wife and 8 years old son, and had sent them to a relative in North Texas. After leaving the bank and throwing away mask, overalls and pistol, he walked straight to his home, hid the money in the shed, fixed up food to last several days and went into the thick brush south of the town. He remained in hiding until he thought the excitement was over. He didn't think he was suspected and that the men in bank could be certain, but Guyon was the man sought. Both Lawrence Little, assistant cashier, and the porter had recognized him despite his disguise. His house was surrounded by Sheriff Johnson and his deputies and he was arrested when he returned to it early Friday morning. After his confession he also told the sheriff where he had hidden the money.

After Listening to Much Sage Advice,
 Bill Jones Wants One Matter
 Cleared Up.

Our friend Bill Jones is a traveling man and needs rest, but unfortunately he doesn't sleep well. He has consulted a number of doctors in the various towns he visits, and being a systematic person has made a sort of digest of the advice he has received. It sums up as follows:

- Don't sleep on your left side, as that creates a pressure on the heart.
 - Don't sleep on your right side, as it interferes with the action of the right lung.
 - Don't sleep on your back, as that is bad for the nervous system.
 - Don't sleep on your stomach, as that causes a pressure bad for the digestion.
 - Don't sleep in a chair, as the body cannot properly relax.
- Bill wants to know if any one can tell him how to keep from falling over when he sleeps standing up.

We want you to have a copy, too. Just come in and ask for this fascinating book—Edison and Music

"O-o-h! Look at this one—real Jacobean!"

Yes! And on the next page, something equally exquisite, equally new, equally old. And on the next—and the next—and the next. You turn from Sheraton to Chippendale; from Gothic to William and Mary; from French to Italian. In 17 beautiful designs, Mr. Edison's designers have expressed the best there is in period furniture. You're simply bound to find a cabinet that just exactly fits your home, your tastes, your ambitions, your pocketbook. "Edison and Music" is the book of

The NEW EDISON
"The Phonograph with a Soul"

No matter which cabinet you select, you'll get a piece which has been endorsed as genuine period furniture by international authorities, such as Lady Randolph Churchill and Miss Elsie de Wolfe. Every New Edison Cabinet is a period cabinet.

Ask about our Budget Plan. It's a new way of figuring the money part—a common sense way. (Note—The New Edison has advanced in price less than 15% since 1914. This includes War Tax.)

Uncle Sam, Profiteer.

All those holding boxes at the Hondo post office will have to dig a little deeper down into their jeans next month if they wish to enjoy the convenience of a post office box. Orders have come from Washington instructing the postmaster to add another dime to the rent of all small boxes, while the large box-holders will be required to cough up about 15 cents additional each quarter, beginning October 1st, 1920. Of course the advance is not much, but why any advance at all will probably puzzle the average individual. For the past dozen years there has not been one additional convenience provided for box holders, the rent of the post office building has not been advanced a penny, and why the necessity for the advance in box rents is not plain. With the price of living still soaring, freight rates prohibitive, and the prices of all farm and ranch products on the toboggan, one cannot help speculating just how long the general public, the burden bearer of all advances, is going to be able to dodge the poor house. Is the public never to have an inning? One of the elder Vanderbilts once remarked "The public be d—d." Others of the present day seem to hold the rights of the general public (if it has any) in as great contempt as the gentleman quoted above.

Impressions of a Traveler in Medina County.

As Texas is an Empire State, so Medina is a County Commonwealth. Here is a land of natural wealth, as it is of scenic beauty, and her varied features add a further grace to these. In geographical position, the county is well favored. To her east, she has San Antonio's busy streets an hour's travel distant; to her west, she has before her the vast expanse of untried wealth of the newer Great Southwest; and, of her own, she holds an alluring and sustaining native charm. She owes this not alone to attractive natural features, but rather to a populace of social and home-loving people. The love of home is not designed for selfish or exclusive ends, but it is an altruistic love that goes beyond to community and country, and it also takes the passing stranger in its folds.

In physical character, her lands fall naturally into three divisions. "One-third of the county, the northern part, is limestone hills—mountains with fertile valleys; the middle part black waxy and chocolate, the southern part sandy loam." Her natural wealth exists in many forms, but is chiefly agricultural. In the northern part, stock-raising is the leading industry; southward, farming leads, and, in the southern part, truck growing is important. Rich clay deposits are found near D'Hanis, which are manufactured and marketed as D'Hanis and Seco bricks. Coal is found near Lytle, and indications for oil are very good. Rice-growing has lately been introduced, and promises to become important. The county seat of Medina county is Hondo, a substantial town of 2000, nestled in a broad fertile valley near the geographical center of the county. It is the first important stop west of San Antonio, and greets a stranger—visitor with an air of freedom and western hospitality. The atmosphere is tempting, and invites a roaming wayfarer to stop and spend a vacation period here, and visit the country lying about. So reader, follow me, and let us make a hurried survey of the county!

Leaving our peaceful county seat to the south-west, we travel through rich farming country and soon reach New Fountain and just beyond we find Quibi. Both are slightly concentrated settlements, with rich territory lying about. Going now in a western direction, our winding pasture roads lead us over the rich and rolling lands of the Rothe's and the Weynand's, and beyond are wild and thinly populated hilly lands. Now we turn southward and enter D'Hanis, a town of some consequence, and important as a shipping point. South and west of D'Hanis the land is hilly and generally sandy, and is mostly in pasture. Large ranches here are owned by members of the Finger and Rothe families. From D'Hanis we go back to Hondo, and hence south to Yancey. Eight or ten miles south of Hondo, we find a decided change in the topography of the country. A hilly ridge is crossed, and then we find small gravel hills and scattered sandy valleys. The hills are covered with shrubbery of Houma, catclaw, and bee-weed. Here we have the same honey plants that are found in Uvalde County, and the honey produced in this section is of the same superior quality. The sandy low-lands are ideal for watermelons, and well suited for other truck crops. From Yancey we will travel east to Devine via Ziz Zag. All along our way we find deep sandy loam—which is at once the delight of the truck-grower's heart, and the blight to the motorist's joys. Devine is important as a shipping point, and is next to Hondo in size. Business enterprise of the town and surrounding country is controlled largely by the Adams' and allied or associated interests. East and north of Devine is the irrigated district about Natalia and Pierson. This section has a promising future, and will show rapid development when some owning becomes more general. Next we will visit Dunay and LaBete, then the historic town of Casperville, hence northward to the northern county line. Northward of Casperville we find the most strictly farming section of the county, and the use of modern farm implements is general. Following up the course of the Medina River beyond Casperville, we reach the little town of Riomedina, also in a rich farming section. If, now we follow the Medina farther, we find the valley narrows, and we are led into a rough and hilly country. Much of this land belongs to members of the Haby family, who predominate in this section. Eastward of Riomedina are found the extensive holdings of the Wurzbach's. Now a passing visit to Cliff, and a pleasure trip to Medina Lake, and our survey is completed. Medina Lake serves as a reservoir for the irrigation lands of Medina County, and is popular as a pleasure resort.

To the prospecting home-seeker, Medina County offers many significant advantages. Rich natural resources, easy access to market, and a neighborly citizenship, are each weighty facts in her favor. Her people are broad-minded and progressive, and appreciate the advantages of worldly trade. They extend a welcome to business enterprise, and invite home-seekers to come and build and live with them. So may fruitful Medina fulfill her greatest destiny as a happy home of many, yet a hoarded pawn of none!

The Institute.

The S. W. Texas Teachers Institute which convened in San Antonio Sept. 6-10 is considered by those in attendance as the best and most instructive of all held.

There were twenty counties and about thirty Independent Districts represented with an attendance of 1810.

Dr. McAndrews, Associate Supt. New York City, who has a national reputation as an educator, delivered a series of ten addresses that dwelt on school problems.

Dr. Horn, Prof. of Ed.—University of Iowa, discussed various school methods, that were especially instructive and interesting to the beginners in the profession.

Dr. Nash, Supt. of Recreation Dept.—Oakland, Calif., was the athletic instructor. More Supervised Play will find a place in the curriculum of every first class school.

Miss Fulmer, Los Angeles, Calif., and Miss Brown of the Austin Primary Schools, rendered especial service to the grade teachers. Their methods are modern and logical, and when used by the beginners of the profession, in the class room will help in overcoming the many difficulties that so often arise in the school.

Dr. Rhodes, Supt. of the city school, together with his associates made the stay for the visiting teachers pleasant. It is the unanimous consent of those who were in attendance to make S. W. Texas Institute a permanent organization.

The Executive Board consists of Dr. Rhodes, San Antonio; Supt. Madeira, Beeville; Supt. Rose, Atascosa Co.; Supt. W. N. Saathoff, Medina Co.; and Supt. J. E. Swift, Wilson Co.

Citation by Publication.

THE STATE OF TEXAS.

To the Sheriff or any Constable of Medina County—Greeting:

You Are Hereby Commanded, That you summon Elizabeth Balzen, whose residence is unknown, by making Publication of this Citation in some newspaper published in the County of Medina, for four (4) consecutive weeks previous to the return day hereof, to be and appear before the Hon. District Court, at the next regular term thereof, to be held in the County of Medina, at the court house thereof, in Hondo, on the 6th Monday after the 1st Monday in September, the same being the 18th day of October, A. D. 1920, then and there to answer a Petition filed in said Court, on the 27th day of August A. D. 1920, in a suit numbered on the docket of said Court No. 1901, wherein John Balzen is plaintiff, and Elizabeth Balzen is defendant. The nature of the plaintiff's demand being as follows, to-wit:

Suit for divorce and for judgment dissolving the Bonds of matrimony existing between plaintiff and defendant.

Plaintiff represents that he is, and has been, for a period of twelve months prior to and next preceding the filing of this suit, a bona fide inhabitant of the State of Texas, and a bona fide resident of Medina County, during all of said time. That on or about June 26, 1920, in Medina County Texas, plaintiff was lawfully married to the defendant; That after their marriage, they continued to live together as husband and wife for a period of about two weeks and until the 14th day of July, 1920, when the defendant abandoned the plaintiff and returned to her former home in the State of Illinois, with the avowed and expressed intention of never returning to plaintiff or plaintiff's home, and since which time plaintiff and defendant have never lived together as husband and wife; Plaintiff alleges that during the time that he and defendant lived together as aforesaid, he was kind and affectionate towards her, providing her with all of the comforts of life, a good home, and that he tried in every way to make her happy and contented; but that the defendant was never satisfied, and that her actions and conduct were such as to lead plaintiff to believe, and he did believe, that his life was in danger, or that defendant would inflict upon him great bodily harm; That on the 10th day of July 1920, at plaintiff's home, the defendant, during the night time, took out her pistol and began firing same into the darkness; that after the firing of said gun the defendant proceeded to hide herself about the place, thereby creating a great disturbance and fear in plaintiff's household.

Plaintiff further alleges that upon leaving plaintiff, the defendant, within a few days thereafter met a man by the name of Guy Dohn, with whom she is now living as husband and wife; that defendant openly admits that she is now married to said Guy Dohn, and that they are living together as husband and wife, in Sterling, Ill. Plaintiff alleges that the marriage relations between himself and the defendant still exist; but that defendant's conduct and actions are of such a nature that their further living together as husband and wife is insupportable, the premises considered; Wherefore plaintiff prays the Court that defendant be cited to appear and answer herein, and for judgment dissolving said marriage relations between plaintiff and defendant, and for costs of suit and such other remedies, general and special, in both law and equity, to which he may be entitled.

Herein Fail Not. And have you before said Court, on the said first day of the first day of the next term thereof, this Writ, with your endorsement thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

Given under my hand and seal of said Court, at office in Hondo this, the 15th day of September A. D. 1920.

DESIRE SAVINGS TAUGHT TO TEXAS SCHOOL PUPILS

The Texas Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teachers' Association has pledged its undivided support to the Government Savings Division in getting the fundamental principles of thrift and savings taught in Texas schools. Mrs. E. A. Watters of Fort Worth, president of the Congress, has advised Dinsmore W. Hume of Dallas, Federal District Director of the Government Division, that she believes every school child should be taught these lessons in school which will so materially contribute to its opportunities for success and progress in life. Texas school children alone now own more than $13,000,000 of Thrift Stamps and War Savings Stamps.

The National bill for pianos, graphophones and records, all luxuries was $104,446,724. That sounds like jazz, not thrift. It should have bought 24,858,268 War Savings Stamps

BERANGER'S HEART TOO KIND

Great French Poet Continually Preyed On by a Host of Ingrates Who Plucked Him.

Interesting anecdotes are told of the great French poet, Beranger, who died in 1857.

The poet was as poor as he was generous. All he had he gave away, and when there was nothing left he sent the beggars who haunted his house to call on his numerous friends.

One of the characteristics of this unfortunate benefactor, who was always surrounded by a host of ingrates, was his tolerant spirit. Since there was no ante-chamber in his modest home, the beggars who knew the house stayed outside on the staircase; it was impossible to see him without finding a half-dozen of them on the stairs. There they used to wait like ravens for the small change, old clothes, and sometimes new clothes, that Lisette was the first to distribute to them. When friends remonstrated with Beranger for giving away things he needed to people whom he did not know, Lisette would answer: "Oh, now, Berange will just write another song—the lazy fellow!"

Taking After Mother.

Bert just came home from college and he had a "shadow" on his upper lip. He stopped to say "Hello" to his grandfather.

His grandfather looked him over and said, "Why, son, you look more like your mother every day."

"What makes you think so?" asked Bert.

"Why because your father had a mustache that came down to his chin. Just look at that one of yours; you must take after your mother."

The Terrible Future.

"What's the matter?"

"I'm terribly worried about the future."

"Why fret about the future?"

"It's this way: I'm not making very much money. I'm just going along the ordinary way without piling up anything that looks like a fortune."

"Well, why worry? You're happy, aren't you?"

"Yes, I'm happy enough now, but twenty or thirty years from now, when the record of this age is written, what shall I say to my children when they ask me what I was doing when everybody else was getting rich?"

More Critical.

"Kind sir," began the meekly mendicant, "the Lord loves even the meanest and most humble of us, and—"

"I am more particular," interrupted J. Fuller Gloom. "On your way!"—Kansas City Star.

HE TRAVELED ALL OVER THE WORLD

But Tanlac Helped Him More Than Treatments Here, In Europe and In South America

"I have been treated for indigestion in France, Italy, Switzerland, North and South America and in fact all over the world, but Tanlac is the only thing I have ever found to do me much good," said H. L. Finniger, watch maker for Nathan Dohrmann & Co., San Francisco, Cal., living at 36 Plato St.

"Always after eating," continued Mr. Finniger, "I would have such cramps in my stomach that I could hardly stand it. I had fallen off until I weighed only ninety eight pounds and was so nervous the least little thing would upset me. I could sleep but little and got up in the mornings feeling all fagged out. My strength and energy left me and I felt like I would have to give up entirely. Besides taking everything in the way of treatments and medicines I tried dieting and the rest cure, but never got more than a little passing relief.

"The way Tanlac brought me out is marvelous. I can eat anything now without any trouble afterwards, I have gained twenty pounds and my nerves are steady as a clock. I sleep fine every night and get up in the mornings ready for a good breakfast and a full day's work, and am enjoying better health than I have in years."

Tanlac is sold in Hondo by W. H. Windrow; in Castroville by Joseph Courand & Co.; and in Dunlay by Louis A. Haby.

Her Dislike Justified.

Bess—I don't like that Mr. Cutting. Jess—That's unkind of you. I heard him say something awfully sweet about you yesterday.

Bess—Oh, did he? What was it? Jess—He said he imagined you must have been perfectly charming as a girl.

—Stray Stories.

A Difference.

"I understood there were scandalous goings on at the party last night." "Oh, no, grandma; the young folks merely indulged in some osculatory diversions."

"Well, that was all right, but that rascally Jimmy told me you were all playing kissing games."

Mean Insinuation.

FOR POISON IVY SUFFERERS

Thorough Washing of Exposed Parts Is Recommended by the American Forestry Association.

This is the time of year when the poison ivy cases begin to reach for a record as people get out into the open and explore the wonders of nature, says the American Forestry association. But poison ivy is not a thing to be fooled with and the association points out that soap and hot water in wholesale applications comprise the best measure of relief.

The poison, after being deposited in the skin, requires some time to penetrate, and if this penetration can be prevented by thorough washing, eruption and irritation will not result. While exposed parts should be cleansed in this manner as soon after exposure as possible, it is worth while to make the attempt even 12 or 20 hours afterward in the hope that at least a portion of the poison may be removed. A heavy lather should be produced and the washing should be continued several minutes. Severe scrubbing with a brush is not advisable, but several swabs or small compresses of gauze may be used, discarding each in turn, so that the poison may not be distributed by the cloth.

Bathing with alcohol diluted with an equal amount of water is also an effective preventive. Where exposure has been more general, a bath for the entire body, followed by a change of clothing is good preventive measure. The hair should not be neglected. Bathing, if not accompanied by sufficient changing of water or rinsing, may result in spreading the rash to skin that had not been infected. In cases that are at all serious a physician should be consulted.

Scores of remedies and prescriptions are more or less in popular favor, the American Forestry association says, but in spite of the claims they assert that no specific treatment for poisoning from ivy and sumac is yet available. Ointments should not be used in the acute stage of the disease. In the later stages, however, soothing and astringent ointments may be of value in allaying irritation and hastening cure. The extent to which it is desirable to use solutions of permanganate of potash, hypsulphite of soda, sulphate of magnesium (Epsom salts) and other remedies, is also discussed. Sugar of lead, formerly much used, often proves disappointing if applied after inflammation has developed, and the user runs the risk of lead poisoning if this substance is applied extensively.

Hard-Boiled Eggs.
J. Lester Hyman, a farmer near Logansport, says that on Easter morning he heard one of his Black Langshan hens cackle in the henry on his farm. He hurried to the place, and there on the floor lay a nice brown egg. It was still warm. The man proceeded to the house to fry the egg for breakfast. Giving it to his wife, who was at the stove frying other eggs, he asked that this fresh one be cooked for him. On attempting to crack the egg to place the contents in the skillet it was found to be hard-boiled. Hyman's hopes of having a hen that laid hard-boiled eggs were shattered when his wife remembered that she had just placed egg shells taken from boiled eggs in the henry and that the hard-boiled egg found had undoubtedly been left among them.—Indianapolis News.

British Silver Currency.
Owing to the rise in the price of silver, the British government finds it impossible to mint silver coins except at a great loss, so it plans to reduce the fineness. Silver, which before the war cost less than 30 pence an ounce, now costs about 88 pence (respectively $0.60 and $1.76). The British money has been 0.925 fine; it is proposed to make it 0.500 fine in the future. With silver at present prices, the intrinsic value of a shilling 0.500 fine will be greater than that of a shilling 0.925 fine before the war.

Public Criticism.
Good, absent-minded old Doctor Wilder was greatly dependent upon his practical wife. One morning Mrs. Wilder sent up an announcement after he had entered the pulpit with a footnote intended to be private. "The Women's Missionary society," he read aloud, "will meet Wednesday afternoon at three o'clock sharp. Your necktie is crooked; please straighten toward the right."—The Watchman-Examiner.

Safe in Unsuspected Dangers.
Writing of accidents to persons employed in industrial plants, Dr. C. Wilder says in Therapie der Gegenwart (Berlin) that the experience of countless ages enables us to sidestep injury unconsciously, and only when we focus our consciousness on the reaction to the occurrence is injury liable to result.

Troubles of the Poor.
It doesn't matter how rich they get the poor still have their troubles. A waitress in a New York restaurant reported to the police that some thief had stolen her $650 fur coat.

That Depends.
"Don't you believe the fruits of any hard work compensate for its toll?" "Not when you are handed a lemon."

Just So.
When we speak of a resort being exclusive we don't necessarily mean that it is fashionable. There's heaven for instance.

TRUTH TRIUMPHS.

Hondo Citizens Testify for the Public Benefit.

A truthful statement of a Hondo citizen, given in his own words, should convince the most skeptical about the merits of Doan's Kidney Pills. If you suffer from backache, nervousness, sleeplessness, urinary disorders or any form of kidney ills, use a tested kidney medicine.

A Hondo citizen tells of Doan's Kidney Pills.

Could you demand more convincing proof of merit?
F. H. Bohlen, proprietor of a repair shop, Hondo, says: "I always use Doan's Kidney Pills when my back bothers me and they never fail to help me. My back ached at times and I had sort of a dull pain in my kidneys. I was often dizzy and black specks appeared before my eyes. My kidneys acted irregularly and the secretions were highly colored and burned in passage. I used Doan's Kidney Pills and they cured the attack. My back is now as strong as iron and my kidneys act regularly. I think the world of Doan's Kidney Pills."

Cardinal Gibbons of Baltimore is quoted to have said to a newspaper man lately in regard to woman suffrage: "While I have always been opposed to woman suffrage because I felt that suffrage would withdraw them from the more delicate and more sacred pursuits of home life. Now that they have been given the vote, it is their duty, both to register and to vote, especially in the forthcoming presidential election. They should vote for the candidate who will, in their opinion, contribute best to material and social progress of the state."

OTTO H. KAHN SAYS GROWN-UPS SHOULD BUY SAVINGS STAMPS

Dallas, Texas.—"It really seems odd that some people think the Savings movement with investment in War Savings Stamps and Registered Treasury Savings Certificates is a sort of child's game," said Dinsmore W. Hume, Federal District Director of Savings for the Eleventh Federal Reserve District. "This is in direct conflict with the belief of Otto H. Kahn, of the great international banking house of Kuhn, Loeb & Co., of New York."

In a recent personal letter to Mr. Hume Mr. Kahn says: "No safer, more attractive or more convenient medium for savings was ever offered in this or any other country than our War Savings Stamps and Registered Treasury Savings Certificates. Their advantages are well known and universally appreciated. It is the duty of all banks and bankers throughout the nation to aid and assist the Thrift campaign of the Government in its efforts to induce people to place their savings in War Savings Stamps and Treasury Savings Certificates. By so doing they will complete and perpetuate a valuable public service done by them with such splendid patriotism and admirable efficiency during the war."

Such an opinion expressed by a man of Mr. Kahn's undisputed ability as a financier and student of world affairs, admits no argument; surely if a man of Mr. Kahn's prominence sees in this movement a place for his activities; if a man accustomed as he is to big things in finance, gives such an endorsement to the Thrift movement, it may well become any business man or other person or any banker, to follow Mr. Kahn's example.

The slender purse is always at a slight disadvantage.

Ten to one it's your own fault if luck is against you.

Much so-called originality is merely undetached imitation.

It is far easier to look prosperous than to feel that way.

BEAUTIFUL EFFECTS OF DEW

Especially in Freezing Weather Do the Minute Drops Form Spectacle Pleasing to the Eye.

A countryside covered with dew is one of the most beautiful sights which the eye of man ever perceived. Hereward Carrington writes in Leslie's, "Dewy Eve" is no mere figment of the poet's imagination, since the dew always "falls" after sundown. As a matter of fact, however, the dew does not "fall" at all, but is deposited as the sun sets and as the surface of the earth, and everything upon it, begins to cool. It is very curious and interesting—this precipitation, for the pearly dewdrops form upon the leaves of trees, the blades of grass, the fine hairs on the caterpillar and on everything which is fine and pointed. The reason why we sometimes have a deposit of dew in the evening, at "the end of a perfect (summer) day" is that on these days the humidity is high, or the amount of moisture in the atmosphere excessive. If it is dry, there is no dew, but if there is much moisture in the air, we have this phenomenon. During the daytime, when the sun is shining, its rays keep the dry particles of moisture dancing about at high speed; they do not have a chance to "settle" anywhere; they are in constant agitation, like boiling water. But when the sun has set, this "dance of the atoms" (of moisture) slows down; their agitation becomes less; and they tend to be deposited on vegetation, leaves, grass, etc., everywhere. Especially is this the case with all finely pointed substances, such as a spider's web. Then we have the most beautiful effects. If the weather becomes excessively cold—below the freezing point—during the precipitation of the dew—then the minute drops of water will freeze into tiny crystals of ice, and then we have "hoar frost" covering the leaves, the grass and the countryside. This is one of the most beautiful sights in nature. Fog is caused by somewhat similar atmospheric conditions—when the air is heavily laden with moisture, and a tiny drop of water adheres to each particle of dust which we see in the atmosphere, dancing about merrily in the sunbeam. Experiments by Sir Oliver Lodge showed that, up to a certain point, fog could be dispersed by electric waves. If the air be dry, and the electric current very powerful, the dust particles become red-hot and glow with white heat; and this is the cause of the lightning flash which we see in the sky. The "visible" lightning really consists of a series of dust particles in the path of the electric discharge which have been heated to white heat. The moisture in the air is the cause of "humidity," dampness, Scotch mist, and finally rain; and if it is very cold at the time, we have snow, sleet and hail instead—frozen rain.

Analyzing Waste Food.

America leads all other nations in analyzing the value of the foods we eat and the best way to make them nourish us. Scientists have found that we often get little of the real value of our foods so that a great deal goes to waste. It is exactly as if we took just one squeeze out of a juicy orange and then threw it away. The new science has been developed largely since the outbreak of the war. Many interesting experiments have been carried on in Teachers' college in New York which are being watched by scientists all over the world. Some tests are made with white rats, others with human beings. The war department has utilized this information in fixing the rations for our soldiers. In a few years people will look back upon our wasteful, unscientific habits of today with amazement.—Boys' Life.

Bad Boy, Aged Forty-Five.

A Philadelphia minister has picked the "foolish age" of man as forty-five years, when he is most likely to sow his wild oats, get divorced and go to the howlows generally. It is a consolation to be assured that for 15 years more we shall continue to exercise our traditional sanity and virtue, but just the same, the Old Nick in us prompts us to look forward with considerable anticipation to our forty-fifth birthday.—The Home Sector.

A Little Lesson.

"I went into a shop to have my shoes mended and sat on the same seat with a millionaire." "Rich and poor are patronizing the cumber nowdays." "But he was more particular about having the work done right than I was." "That trait of his is probably what made him a millionaire."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Well Placed.

The Renter—Say, you told me the room you rented to me commanded a fine view and I find it opens on a light shaft. The Agent—That's right. The Scrap-heap couple live across the shaft and they put up some of the best rough hatches you ever saw. You gotta ring-side seat.

"Set in Her Ways."

Mrs. Gasser—She is the most determined woman I ever saw in my life. Mrs. Lissen—Stubborn, eh? Mrs. Gasser—Not exactly, but she's the type that would sit on the top of a bus in rainy weather in order to show her new hat.

Economy is a brand of wealth that no one cares to inherit.

Once in a while the greatest truth is told by the biggest liar.

STATE FIRE MARSHAL INVESTS THIRD OF INCOME IN LIBERTY BONDS MONTHLY

Austin, Texas.—Hon. A. P. Woodridge, former banker, long mayor of Austin, now state fire marshal, writes that he is investing at least one-third of his monthly income in Liberty Bonds, which he tells Dinmore W. Hume, Federal District Director of Savings, of Dallas, he considers best for him. Mr. Woodridge adds that were he not buying these securities he would invest in other government savings securities, War Savings Stamps and Registered Treasury Savings Certificates.

"I'VE QUIT PLAYING THE SUCKER'S GAME; I'M NOW BUYING W.S.S.," SAYS MAN

"Heretofore I have been playing the sucker's game and I have always come out at the muzzle of the canon; from now on, I am putting some of my salary in War Savings Stamps," writes a Smithville, Texas, man to Dinmore W. Hume, Federal District Director of Government Savings. After all, the safe saving game is the safest game to play, and War Savings Stamps are absolutely safe. They yield an attractive rate of compound interest.

REGISTERED TREASURY SAVINGS CERTIFICATES AT LOCAL POSTOFFICE

Paying compound interest and cashable on demand, the new $100 and $1,000 Registered Treasury Savings Certificates, registered against loss in any way, may be obtained from or through the local postoffice or banks. A $100 certificate costs eighty odd dollars this month. The price of a $1,000 certificate is only eight hundred and some odd dollars.

The difference between the capitalist and one who is not is $4.19, or one red War Savings Stamp. Make your money work for you as well as work for it. Put it to work in a Registered Treasury Savings Certificate.

TIME MAKES LITTLE CHANGE

Booth Tarkington Relates Anecdote to Show How Characteristics Prevail to the End.

Novelist Booth Tarkington was talking about the cowardly attack that a gang of Germans had made on a solitary French officer in the restaurant of the Hotel Adlon in Berlin.

"The Germans," he said, "were unspeakable in the beginning, and they will be unspeakable to the end."

He shook his head thoughtfully.

"People can't change," he said. "Henry Labouchere was born a fearless wit, and a fearless wit he died. A few hours before his death, you know, Labouchere's nephew upset a tiny spirit lamp that was burning by the bedside. The dying man awoke out of a fitful doze and saw the miniature conflagration.

"Flames?" he said. "Not yet, I think."

"And he laughed quizzically and dozed again."

A Boulevard Deputy Sheriff.

The other day we dropped into our favorite garage for a few minor repairs, which the bus needed. The proprietor was even a little prouder than usual, we thought.

"What's happened to the boss," said we to Fat.

"Haven't you heard?" he asked. "No. What is it?"

"He's a deputy sheriff now. Hey, boss, come on over here and show your badge."

A garage proprietor and a deputy sheriff all at once! If anybody can beat that for arrogance and pomp and lordly authority and a supreme sense of superiority outside of Prussia, we'd like to hear about it.

JUST ACTING LIKE A MAN

Simple Explanation of Wife's Action When She Suspected Burglar Was Downstairs.

After starting for his work the other morning Taylor happened to think of something he had forgotten and returned to the house to get it.

While walking about the kitchen he heard a great racket upstairs. Considerably alarmed he called:

"What in the world is the matter, Mary? Has anything happened?"

There was a moment's silence, then his wife replied:

"Oh, is that you?"

"Yes, who did you think it was?"

"I heard someone walking about down there and I thought it was a burglar."

"But the noise—"

"I was making a lot of noise so that he would think there was a man in the house."

The man who hasn't a cent isn't apt to lie in a bed of roses.

A missing suspender button often leaves a man in suspense.

Lots of people do a thing twice in order to get it done once.

An old man is always boasting about his aches and pains.

Electrical Hair Cutting.

There is in use in France an electric substitute for the barber's scissors. It consists of a comb carrying along one side of its row of teeth a platinum wire through which flows an electric current. As the comb passes through the locks to be shorn the heated wire instantaneously severs the hairs, leaving them of even length and sealing the cut ends as in the ordinary process of singeing with a taper.

Brought Sad Memories.

Mrs. Wells—Yes, since, the cook refused to drive out in our car when I offered it to her.

Mr. Good—What excuse did she give?

Mrs. Wells—Said she wouldn't ride unless it was a self-starter, as cranking it reminded her so much of a washing machine.

Wary.

"I don't complain about high prices any more."

"Why not?"

"I've just got tired of hearing the perfectly good excuse any tradesman can offer for soaking the life out of me."

Ain't It the Truth. "This whipping hurts me as much as it does you, my son." "But you are not so tender where it hurts you, pa."

Couldn't Escape Them. "Hello, George. I hear you can't meet your creditors." "You're all wrong! I meet one every five minutes."

The Lady Lawyer. "We challenge that juror." "On what grounds?" "She is a brunette. Our client is a blonde."

Still With One. "Have you got rid of that run-down feeling yet?" "Not while I'm dodging the automobiles."

Innuendo. "I can't do a thing with my hair." "Send it to a hair specialist," suggested the other damsel.

A Prime Requisite. "That portrait of Mrs. Gaddy is a speaking likeness." "It wouldn't be like her any other way."

Tenancy. Knicker—Jones lives in the past. Bocker—The only place where there are any vacancies.

Credit Not Tight. Knicker—Banks are reducing loans. Bocker—But there is no restriction on borrowing trouble.

Corresponding Action. "What did Smith do when the hold-up man on the road told him to fork over?" "He knifed him."

Great Saving. Adam became enthusiastic. "I'm perfectly willing to economize by wearing old fig leaves," he cried.

His Coat More. Samson was plainly peeved. "I don't see why they think a dollar haircut is expensive," he cried.

Small Potatoes. "What can I do for you, madam?" "Can you give me small change for this potato?"—Cartoons Magazine.

Curtain. "What do they mean by a curtain lecture?" "It usually follows smoking in the parlor."

The Main Thing. "That little waitress has taking ways." "I wish she had some fetching ones."

Forget It. Nilly—Who invented classical music? Willy (gloomily)—What's the difference; it's here.—Musical Courier.

His Lack. "Noah would never have made a very successful poker player." "I suppose he wouldn't when he never held more than two of a kind."

The End. Young Bride—Mother, dear, how long does the honeymoon last? Mother—Until you ask your husband for money, my child.

The Distinction. "Have you a good cook, Mr. Japps?" "Oh, yes, the cook's very religious, but her cooking's diabolical."

Logical. "The second doctor the Smiths had was exactly like the first one." "Well, why shouldn't he be the facsimile for a sick family?"

Intruders. "Why don't you take children in this apartment house?" "Their crying," replied the janitor, "is liable to interfere with the phonographs and player pianos."

Safety First. The ex-buck found the menu card at the fashionable restaurant almost as baffling as some he'd perused in France. Finally he summoned a waiter.

"Where are pork and beans on here?" he asked.

The waiter indicated.

"Well," said the relieved patron, "bring me everything above and below that line."—American Legion Weekly.

Certain unscrupulous bottlers are offering for sale soda water, bottled in bottles bearing our name and trade marks—and we beg to caution our dealer customers, and others, to accept no bottled soda water, bottled in bottles bearing our name and address, except from us.

BOTTLERS, WHO ARE AFRAID, FOR SOME REASON, TO SELL THEIR GOODS UNDER THEIR OWN NAME, OR BRANDS, DO NOT DESERVE PUBLIC CONFIDENCE.

For the protection of the consumer, the Federal Pure Food Law requires that all containers, packages, boxes, cans, BOTTLES, etc., containing FOOD and DRINK, offered for human consumption, shall bear the true name and address of the manufacturer or bottler, of such FOOD and DRINK.

All we ask is a square deal — you believe in fair play — so please help us overcome this evil practice of deceiving the consumer and abusing our brands and name, by refusing to buy or sell bottled goods, put up by any bottler, who is afraid to assume the responsibility of selling his goods in bottles, branded with HIS OWN NAME AND ADDRESS.

OUR PRODUCTS — COCA-COLA, DELAWARE PUNCH, ORANGE and LEMON CRUSH, and BUCK BRAND Soda Waters, are bottled in strict conformity with all PURE FOOD LAWS—and are guaranteed pure and wholesome, within the broadest meaning of these terms.
